

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A tubular strip for leisure chair is made of a specific pliable polyvinyl chloride (PVC) material by way of 5 injection molding, so that the tubular strip has a reduced wall thickness with a plurality of spaced reinforcing ribs integrally molded on an outer surface of the tubular strip to provide a common force-bearing structure.